

Labour Market Information (LMI) for Greenwich

Understanding the local job market can help you make well-informed decisions about your career. Here are some key insights into the labour market in Greenwich:

- Growing Sectors: Key growth areas include education, health and social care, tourism, and retail. These sectors are vital to the local economy and provide a range of opportunities.
- Tourism and Hospitality: Iconic attractions such as the Cutty Sark and the Royal Observatory contribute to a strong tourism industry with roles in hotels, restaurants, and cultural venues.
- Education: Greenwich has a growing demand for teachers and support staff in its schools and colleges.
- Construction: Ongoing regeneration projects create roles in construction, project management, and skilled trades.
- Green Energy: Sustainability and renewable energy initiatives are creating new opportunities in environmental science and energy.

Current Job Trends

- Demand for Hospitality Roles: The tourism boom has increased demand for customer service and hospitality staff.
- Health and Social Care: A continued need for carers, nurses, and social workers.
- Digital Skills: As businesses adopt new technologies, there is increasing demand for IT and digital professionals.